- In Berlin 268 venue providers offer total meeting space of approximately 380,300 m<sup>2</sup>.
- 156 Hotels (58% of providers) have around 92,300 m<sup>2</sup> event space (24% of meeting space).
- 6 convention centres and halls (2% of providers) offer 57,900 m<sup>2</sup> event space (15% of meeting space).
- 106 "unusual venues" (locations, 40% of providers) make 230,100 m<sup>2</sup> event space (61% of meeting space) available.
- 35% of convention hotels and 100% of convention halls took part in congress.net in 2005. Together they represent 73% of the total space offering in venues of this kind.
- 21% of the location providers, who account for 15% of the total event space in Berlin locations, took part.
- In 2005 around 89,200 events with approximately 6.9 million participants were staged. The number of events and participants was far higher than in 2004 (79,850 events with 6.2 million participants). This corresponds to an increase of +12% for events and +11% for participants.
- The Berlin convention hotels play a key role: around 75,200 events (+15%) attracted 3.8 million participants (+12%) (2004: 67,200 events with 3.3 million participants).
- Approximately, 2,100 events (+20%) with around 800,000 participants (+14%) were staged in the convention centres and halls in the course of 2005 (2004: 1,750 events with 700,000 participants).
- Around 11,900 events were recorded in 2005 in the Locations with approximately 2.3 million participants (2004: 10,900 events with 2.2 million participants).
- Overall, it can be stated that the convention market improved markedly compared with 2004. There were dramatic increases in both event and participant numbers.

- On average, the event sizes in 2005 remained the same as the previous year.
- The events with up to 20 participants accounted for half of all events in 2005.
- In total, the events with fewer than 100 participants generated 90% of total volume.
- The average meeting length compared with 2004 remained steady at 1.6 days. Whereas there were no changes in hotels and locations, the average meeting length in convention, municipal and multi-purpose halls was considerably shorter than the previous year (2005: 1.5 days, 2004: 1.9 days).
- The proportion of one-day events in Berlin fell from 73% in 2004 to 71% in 2005.
- The seasonal distribution of events followed a similar course in 2005 compared to 2004. The largest number of events with 135 index points was registered in 2005 in September (2004: most events in November with 130 index points).
- .• In 2005 meetings (36%), conventions (12%), seminars (12%) and continuing training (10%) were the dominant types of event from the Berlin perspective. These figures were similar to the previous year. Meetings constituted by far the largest proportion of all events (38% and 32%) in hotels and convention, municipal and multi-purpose halls. Events (35%) and seminars (18%) were the biggest categories of events in the locations.
- Out of all the organisers, more than 68% of all events were staged by the private sector (2004: 71%).
- Whereas the private sector share fell, that of associations and organisations as organisers increased, the share of agencies and PCOs stagnated and that of public institutions increased slightly.
- 92% of all events were directly booked in 2005. Around 5% of bookings were made by the PCOs and approximately 3% by travel agencies.
- The sector "Chemicals, Pharmaceuticals, Cosmetics" was the most highly represented amongst organisers in 2005 as it was in the two previous years. With 12% of all events, it staged most meetings and conventions in Berlin.

- The sectors "Commerce, Banks, Insurance" headed the field in 2005 with 10% of all participants.
- The international dimension to the events changed compared with the previous year. The share of international events was three percentage points higher than the previous year (2005: 21%, 2004: 18%).
- When it comes to the origins of participants, the region is still very clearly in first place with 51%, followed by Germany, Europe and the rest of the world.
- If one looks at the origins of participants in the different types of events, then conventions have the largest proportion of foreign participants (2005: 8%, 2004: 10%).
- The proportion of events with exhibitions remained on the same level (9%) as in the previous year.
- The meeting and convention travel business in Berlin generated approximately 3.82 million bed nights. This meant an increase of 29% over the previous year (2004: 2.95 million bed nights). The major increase is due, amongst other things, to nights spent privately in Berlin before and after meetings and conventions.
- The economic impact on the city is considerable and far higher than the previous year. The sales revenue volume generated by meeting and convention visitors amounts to € 1.227 billion in 2005 (2004: € 998 million).
- The average expenditure per participant in meeting and convention travel in 2005 was € 178 (2004: € 161).
- Around 24,300 full-time jobs are secured in Berlin by the meeting and convention travel industry.
